- Leverage PRIME's unrivalled flexibility to develop your customer-centric services across your issuing business, locally or across borders.
- Scale your next-generation issuing portfolio effortlessly with PRIME support for consumer credit and debit, unlimited currency prepaid cards, innovative B2B commercial and virtual card propositions, digital accounts and international digital wallet enablement.
- Orchestrate new products and services to bring them to market faster through PRIME's API-driven, digital technology framework.
- Reduce the total cost of ownership (TCO) with PRIME in the Cloud as a shared platform for innovation and global product investment.
- Benefit from cloud automation and Total Issuing™ Solutions' continuous integration-continuous deployment (CI/CD) design approach for seamless platform upgrades. It brings new roadmap functionality — and supporting compliance — to your business, fast.
- Unlock transformational efficiencies and operational improvements with cloud auto-scaling and auto-healing for reduced consumption, optimal performance and increased availability.

FIS® Total Issuing™ PRIME as a Service in the cloud is a winning combination for any future-forward growth strategy.

Faced with increasing compliance complexity and unrelenting, fast-paced change in digital payments, issuers can become overburdened with resource demands and fragmented technology solutions.

With our PRIME in the Cloud services and partner ecosystem, we enable your business acceleration by helping to navigate these changes while empowering you with the tools to reduce costs and drive ahead of your competition.

So power up with our future-proof, agile technology framework geared for cloud efficiencies, digital enablement and speed. Focus your resource efforts on strategic growth and let our compliance experts and service-driven teams do the rest.

Accelerate your business with the power of PRIME and the flexibility of the cloud.

We believe the cloud has a tremendous role to play in the new world of financial services. By adopting a digital technology framework underpinned by RESTful APIs, cloud-native containerization and microservices, you can benefit from operational efficiency gains that positively impact your business. PRIME in the Cloud will enable you to foster innovation at speed to deliver on the digital customer journeys that you strive to support — and your customers demand — today and tomorrow.

Growth & income

Future-proof your expansion strategies. Effortlessly right-size and scale up while only paying for services you use. Leverage cloud-automated product upgrades for new innovation and pre-packaged integration to digital players. Spin up new sandbox environments to test proof of concepts and support fast market launches.

Compliance

Navigate increasing compliance and complexity. Leverage Total Issuing™ Solutions' scale and enterprise compliance investment to alleviate the burden from your in-house resources to remove cost. Benefit from PRIME flexibility, seamless and regular automated cloud upgrades, integrated Secure DevOps best practice methodology — and our refined cloud-risk control framework.

Digital customer-centricity

Compete or collaborate with fintechs and new entrants with digital-first, customer-centric services. Leverage Total Issuing™ APIs to support evolving digital payment innovation, securely share data insights and quickly expand with a partner ecosystem to create a marketplace of personalized customer services.

Operational efficiency

Improve cost-income ratio by mitigating costs. Reduce expenditures for hardware, data storage and infrastructure maintenance. Optimize resource and operational performance with Total Issuing™ PRIME application management expertise and cloud automation for patching and continuous modernization.

Flexibility

Our PRIME issuer payment stack offers a breadth of flexible services that bring customer-centric added value to multi-product issuing. With industry-recognized high parameterization, which avoids hard coding, a flexible data model and award-winning APIs, PRIME offers low barriers to change.

Our PRIME in the Cloud proposition is designed to enable business agility and growth while working with a cloud service provider. We ensure your peace of mind with our cloud-ready processing solutions and global trusted partner footprint with a service history spanning more than 50 years.
