

DIGITAL ONE CONSUMER STUDIO

Unify all customer-facing channels with one common platform accessible from any device, anyplace, anytime

Intuitive digital self-service banking from any channel

FIS Digital One Consumer Studio is a highly scalable, low code and customer-facing digital banking management solution that spans online and mobile. This solution will help you build, deploy and scale your unique next generation digital experience. Digital One features a modern, future-looking, configurable design that delivers a consistent and frictionless experience for today but also with the future in mind. You can easily expand the services you offer your customers with more advanced capabilities and added personalization.

Easy-to-use design for all touchpoints

To provide a customer-centric experience, you must have an in-depth knowledge of customer expectations. Customers still want to receive guidance from a trusted source. As bank products and services become more commoditized, a personal customer experience will be your competitive differentiator.

Digital One Consumer Studio offers a visual, drag and drop interface with extensive page layout, templates, and a prefabricated (prefab) library to take your digital banking offering to the next level. Foster your entrepreneurial and strategic design while drastically reducing deployment time.

What is your modernization strategy?

Your customers not only demand a seamless digital experience from any device, but they also now expect it. They may not care how you make it happen, but they sure notice when you don't. And they are not afraid to switch financial institutions to get it. When you're powered by Digital One, a single engagement platform, you raise the bar for what banking should be, in every channel. Digital One morphs disjointed banking processes into a seamless and simple experience for your customers and employees.

Digital One enables your bank to engage customers throughout their life journeys, resulting in deeper, longer lasting and more profitable customer relationships. With Digital One, you have the power to transform every customer interaction into a relationship-building opportunity while showing them how banking should be -- in every channel.
