The Onslaught of Regulatory Change is Bringing Compliance to the Forefront

Consolidated Audit Trail (CAT), DoL Fiduciary Rule, high-risk & recidivist brokers, senior investors, sales practices & suitability, CIP/AML, cybersecurity, market integrity, conflicts of interest, social media – the list is endless. Financial Services firms must manage vast disparate sets of data and processes to comply with regulations.

It's difficult to gain oversight of all compliance risk – or the consequences

Today's compliance officers must spend more and more time educating themselves about the latest proposals and rules, ensuring that they map them to the business practices of the firm and update their risk-based compliance analysis, often against very tight deadlines.
