Corporate actions management remains complex, convoluted and disjointed, with manual processing increasing not only costs but also risk.

Whether your customers are professional portfolio managers or individual investors, they can use Corporate Actions Election Portal to review the terms of any corporate actions that may affect their holdings and make their instructions accordingly. Plus, you can strengthen your brand by white labelling the solution within any proprietary portal that your customers use to manage post-trading activity.

With customizable query tools and calendars for managing events, you can make voting quicker and easier. Users can submit all elective responses and enter special instructions via one screen, while entering the same special instruction on multiple accounts.
