

FIS managed services have expanded, with more flexibility and scalability than ever before

More and more clients are choosing FIS managed services around FIS software...

FIS offers managed services for technology infrastructure, software applications and post-trade operations, all built around industry standard FIS software and leveraging our significant investments in next generation technology and platforms.

We are unifying our teams and delivery models across existing managed services clients and expanding our software coverage in the middle office and collateral management to deliver greater efficiency.

We are introducing “change as a service” to help our clients cope with the ongoing burden of regulatory, industry and software upgrade change projects with greater economies of scale, faster time to market and less future cost.

Our team of 1,000+ experts in technology, operations and change management provide unparalleled coverage, depth and capacity on-demand for clients to leverage.

We recognize all clients are unique and now offer more flexible choices to pick and choose the combinations of managed services that best align with your business goals.

Discover how other FIS clients have increased efficiency, reduced operational risk and streamlined future projects by using FIS managed services!
